The Network Managers Inc. Merge with Karam Consulting

Tilton, N.H. – The Network Managers & Trainers Inc.(TNMTI) a Tilton based technology company and Karam Consulting Group (KCG), a Manchester based IT services firm announced the merger of both companies today. The newly formed company will operate under The Network Managers & Trainers, Inc. name and will combine resources, services and experience to continue providing information technology services to small to mid-sized businesses throughout New England.

TNMTI and KCG are merging their highly experienced management teams to lead the new company. Timothy Lang, President/CEO of TNMTI will remain as President/CEO. Glen Karam will join the company as a partner, and will lead the technology group as the Vice President of Technology Services. A Vice President of Sales will be appointed to lead the continued growth of TNMTI, which has averaged over 30% annually for the last three years.

“This merger is really about our customers,” said Timothy P. Lang, Sr., president of TNMTI, “both companies were founded on the principle of strong customer service. Now with the increased skill sets and technical knowledge of the combined companies, we can increase the value of every technology dollar spent for our clients.”

“This merger positions the new company for greater success than either one of us could have achieved alone,” said Glen Karam. “The combination of Network Managers and Karam Consulting builds strength on strength. We are confident that together we will generate efficiencies that will benefit our customers. We have the resources to provide total network support, offering our customers efficient, differentiated services with the combined strengths of the two companies.”

Customer benefits

For customers, the merger will allow TNMTI to expand its services, offering more expertise with integrated voice and data systems, and will provide clients with increased availability to senior level engineers for consulting and security services.

TNMTI specializes in system implementation, internet and managed network security services for small to mid-sized businesses. Vertical markets include healthcare, education, legal firms, law enforcement, towns and municipalities.
